Call for Nominations for 2017 City of Appleton Historic Preservation Awards

Post Date: 01/19/2017

Do you know of a project, building or structure you would recommend for a 2017 preservation award? The City of Appleton Historic Preservation Commission invites you to participate in the nomination of property owners of residential and non-residential property who have taken care to preserve their property or have undertaken restoration or revitalization projects that have restored, rehabilitated, and/or preserved a part of the City's historical resources. Two types of certificates are awarded each year, one for Stewardship and one for Historic Preservation/Restoration.

Certificates for Stewardship are awarded for projects in which the exterior character of a building or structure has been maintained, restored or rehabilitated true to the documented, or the reasonably assumed intent, of the original historic design. Exterior paint work and color palette need not match the original to the building but must be consistent with those used at the time period which the historical style of the building represents.

Preservation/Restoration Certificates acknowledge projects where the exterior character of a historic building or structure has been preserved, restored or rehabilitated to standards true to its original design.

Past Award Recipient: Historic Preservation/Restoration Certificate

Criteria for these certificates include the following:

- The property must be located within the City of Appleton.
- The nominated work must have been completed within the past 5 years.
- The building/structure must be 50 years or older.
- Restoration or revitalization projects must be completed and must have been completed by the current property owner.
- If required, the property owner must have obtained required City permits and approvals for the project.

- Significant archaeological resources affected by a project shall have been protected and preserved. If such resources were disturbed, mitigation measures must have been undertaken.
